There are 3 levels of Apprenticeship:

Intermediate Apprenticeships
Apprentices work towards work-based learning qualifications such as a Level 2, Key Skills and, in most cases, a relevant knowledge-based qualification such as a BTEC. These provide the skills needed for the chosen career and support entry to an Advanced Apprenticeship.

Advanced Apprenticeships
Advanced apprentices work towards work-based learning qualifications such as a Level 3, Key Skills and, in most cases, a relevant knowledge-based certificate and are aimed at advanced skills and junior supervisory roles

Higher Apprenticeships
The Higher Apprenticeship is a vocational path to achieving a graduate level or above qualification. Available from level 4-7 Higher Apprenticeships are growing as industry recognises the need and strengths of developing your own staff and allow professional membership and recognition through this vocational route.
